During law school, I was an unpaid student intern for 3 semesters. In the spring semester of 1973, I worked in the consumer protection branch of the Alameda County (Oakland, CA) District Attorney's Office. I and another law student, posing as a married couple, answered advertisements that offered free gifts, free trips, amazingly low prices, etc.. I can't remember the attorney who was in charge; my immediate supervisor was an investigator named Bernard Hughes. In the fall of 1973 and the spring of 1974, I interned at Solano County Legal Services in Vallejo, CA. My supervisor was Alberto Zavala. I helped people with landlord/tenant problems, consumer complaints, marriage dissolutions, etc..

Aug. 1974 to Nov. 1976 -- Asst. District Attorney in Fairbanks. I did criminal trials and appeals. My supervisors were Catherine Chandler and Harry L. Davis.

Nov. 1976 to Aug. 1978 -- Asst. Attorney General in Fairbanks. I did general civil litigation (child support enforcement, wage claim enforcement, trespass to state lands, etc.) and I also handled juvenile delinquency matters. My supervisors were William Mellow and Douglas Mertz.

Aug. 1978 to Mar. 1985 -- Asst. Attorney General in the Office of Special Prosecutions & Appeals in Anchorage. My work was primarily criminal appellate litigation. I was also co-counsel in an insurance fraud prosecution that ended in an 8-week trial. My supervisor was Peter A. Michalski.

Mar. 1985 to present -- I became the head of the office when Peter Michalski left. I still carry a reduced appellate caseload, but about 50% of my time is spent in administration. My supervisor is Larry R. Weeks in Juneau.
