I grew up in Western Washington, attended one year at the U.S. Air Force Academy, then graduated from the University of Puget Sound, with a B.A. in Literature. I came to Alaska in the summer of 1985 after graduating from Willamette University College of Law. I was admitted to practice in Alaska in 1985, and have been in private practice since then. My practice has covered a wide range of issues, from insurance disputes, personal injury cases and commercial matters, and has included trials in both state and federal courts. I have presented several CLE programs on insurance, trial practice and employment issues. I volunteered with Anchorage Youth Court as an attorney advisor beginning in 1987, continuing off and on since then. I volunteered as a radio host for KSKA from 1994 to 2002. My wife Arlanda is a retired teacher. We have a son in college.
