Name Charles T. Huguelet

Position(s) for which you wish to be considered:

Alaska Supreme Court

Date: January 20, 2012

I grew up in Western North Carolina, joined the Navy at 17, and served aboard submarines. I got out of the Navy, entered college, married, and joined the reserves to supplement income from the GI Bill. When I was accepted into law school, I had one child and another on the way.

After law school I was commissioned a Navy JAG officer and served in Guam and California. When my service obligation was complete, I moved to Anchorage and entered private practice. I joined the Alaska National Guard and raised my children in Anchorage.

As time passed, I developed an interest in public service, took a job with the State, and was later appointed to the Superior Court in Kenai. My wife and I have enjoyed Kenai, and I have loved being a judge. I have also served two tours in Iraq working directly with Iraqi lawyers and judges.
